

+ EHI Statement of Need

Can you imagine your life battling a stigma? Can you imagine battling multiple stigmas? Can you imagine a life where you battle to learn, see your household battle to make ends meet, battling systems of society? Now, can you see yourself battling self? Whether we care to admit it, this is the battle of many as opposed to being the battle of few. Far too often there are labels, stigmas and glass ceilings placed over top of those whose journeys represent pieces of our own or those that we love.

Through personal, educational, and professional experience, Elevations Health Inc recognizes first-hand the challenges our community faces daily with no support, guidance, or proper information regarding mental and behavioral health. We see the single mothers who are overwhelmed with responsibility and have no time for self-care. We see the males who are trapped in a cycle of anger and violence. We see children whose childhoods are cut short due to trauma or having to bear burdens and responsibilities in their families. With this insight, we intend to help our community overcome the psychological effects of social-emotional barriers such as poverty, exposure to violence, generational trauma, and systematic oppression. We feel that our community desperately needs an organization that is able to connect with them on a deeper level with compassion, empathy, and foresight into their journey of healing and wellness. We feel the need to expose our community to normalizing healthy habits and coping tools other than engaging in negative coping mechanisms such as drugs, violence, and negative behaviors. We also feel the need to empathize the importance of community healing and encouraging individuals in our programs to be leaders, inspiring others in their community to prioritize their mental health as well. We recognize a need to help our community build a bridge to wellness that may help them walk into a healed version of life where they can focus on thriving instead of surviving.

+ EHI Vision

Situations, circumstances, and crucible events all too-often challenge our... yes our ability to balance our behavioral health. Elevations Health Inc. steps-in and steps-up to make coping through the storm a comfortable norm. EHI brings pride to wrap-around services, as opposed to embarrassment. We treat, treat, and treat. EHI treats you like family. We treat your condition. And we treat and reward you with resource offerings.

Elevations Health Inc. aspires to be the go-to community partner and information center for behavioral health. Our resource offerings will extend throughout the homes, academic institutions, and neighborhoods of our clients. EHI will set the standard of excellence of behavioral health support in the state of Ohio.

+ EHI Family (Organizational Structure)

Elevations Health Inc. is not just an agency, not just a service provider, and further not just a group of clinical professionals. Moreover, we are not just a rigid organization with someone being assigned to and reporting to someone else. EHI is a family looking to be an extension of yours. As such, you will note that we don't present a traditional organization hierarchy, but rather a nucleus of professionals and services that function as cells supporting the physical and emotional needs of our client families. Our professionals live near you, look like you, and have championed experiences like yours.
